

(Free pdf) Extraordinary Women Conservationists of Washington: Mothers of Nature

Extraordinary Women Conservationists of Washington: Mothers of Nature

Deirdre Arntz

Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks*

Download

Read Online

#1323670 in Books 2015-01-12 2015-01-12 Original language: English PDF # 1 9.00 x .31 x 6.00l, .80 #File Name: 1626197598160 pages | File size: 51.Mb

Deirdre Arntz : Extraordinary Women Conservationists of Washington: Mothers of Nature before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Extraordinary Women Conservationists of Washington: Mothers of Nature:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Inspirational By Pat L. This book gave me the inside story on each of these extraordinary women; providing personal history and the force behind their determination to succeed in their quest to clean up our environment, establish a higher standard of care and provide continued protection for all things in nature. I enjoyed it too for its reminders of the history of the women's movement. I highly recommend it for audiences young and old.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The Backstory to the Natural History of WashingtonBy AvosettaWhat a revelation! We are so lucky in Washington state to have had these watchdogs and workhorses behind the scenes saving our state. The concept for the book was brilliant, but these histories are seldom recorded. Every state should have such a historian and history.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy LarryGreat informative book.

Courageous women are to thank for many of Washington's environmental conservation successes. Bonnie Phillips, Melanie Rowland and Helen Engle battled harmful timber cutting. Polly Dyer and Emily Haig worked to expand Olympic National Park and organized efforts to establish North Cascades National Park. Women helped create the Washington Environmental Council and Washington Conservation Voters. As a state representative, Jolene Unsoeld led the fight against Boeing and other major corporations to pass the state Model Toxics Control Act. Author and Washington conservationist Dee Arntz recounts these important stories and many others, showing that the legacy of Washington's female conservationists is nothing short of extraordinary.

About the AuthorDeirdre Arntz has a certificate in wetland science from the University of Washington, a master's in anthropology from San Francisco State and a BA in political science from Boston College. She is a writer and a member of the Audubon Society, a former board member of Seattle Audubon and former chair of that groups nationally recognized Washington Wetlands Network. She has also served as a board member of the Washington Environmental Council.