I thought it could make a nice coffee table book but there's almost no pictures and the texts are pretty dry with nothing really to inspire awe or excitement. The cover I feel is the nicest thing about it. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Good actual dive info..not so good on people of least interest at end of each chapter. By Customer Good content on the dive locations. Not so pleased with the fluff about the mostly over educated, a credited, did this and did that, was ordained by the queen of scotts over laden acalades the writer pous on at end of each dive location. Maybe the writer was filling pages or had some old Texas Holdem debts to repay. 3-16-16 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. My husband loved this. It was a quick backup plan to ... By FloridaGal335 My husband loved this. It was a quick backup plan to Father's Day.

The earth's oceans hold many wondrous surprises, be they the small, colorful critters off the coast of Papua New Guinea, opportunistic red demon squids in the Sea of Cortes, or naval wrecks in the lagoon of Bikini Atoll. In Fifty Places to Dive Before You Die Chris Santella has invited diving experts from around the world to share some of their favorite destinations, so ardent divers can experience these underwater wonders for themselves either on location in their SCUBA gear, or at home in their armchair. The fifth in Santella's bestselling Fifty Places series, the book takes divers from hot-spot destinations like Raja Ampat (off the coast of West Guinea) to old Caribbean favorites like Grand Cayman Isles. Readers will swim among whale sharks off Myanmar, befriend wolf eels off the coast of Maine, and marvel at the giant mola mola of Lembongan, Indonesia. These wonderful creatures plus the brilliant coral reefs that often provide their backdrop are captured in 40 gorgeous color photos from the world's greatest underwater photographers. And for readers who want to travel to these breathtaking locales, Santella provides complete If You Go suggestions to help you plan your trip.
