Three StarsBy Paul HughesGood information, thank you.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. and enjoyed this bookBy steve eurotasWe're in our late 50's, very late, and enjoyed this book. First ride was Sacramento River Trail in Redding. Very accurate description, first half was flat and very scenic, second half had a few grades to climb and more people as we got closer to Sundial Bridge.We plan to explore many other trails offered in this book. Paradise Steve 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars

The author of 12 outdoor guidebooks, including Foghorn Outdoors Northern California Biking and Foghorn Outdoors 250 Great Hikes in California's National Parks, Ann Marie Brown is a dedicated California outdoorswoman. She hikes, bikes, and camps more than 150 days each year in a dedicated effort to avoid routine, complacency, and getting a real job. Ann Marie's work has appeared in Sunset, VIA, and Backpacker magazines. As a way of giving back a little of what she gets from her experiences in nature, she writes and edits for several environmental groups, including the Sierra Club and National Resources Defense Council. When not traipsing along a California trail, Ann Marie can be found at her home on the Northern California coast, usually counting whale spouts instead of working.
