FREE Days out in Lancashire* (and the surrounding areas) is a book. It tells you how to have fun in Lancashire for FREE. That means it's about days out which cost nothing. Ideal for people on holiday in Lancashire. Especially if you've got kids. Description FREE Days Out in Lancashire (*and the surrounding areas) This book will be released in the Spring of 2014. You can get it as a handy printed book or on your Kindle. Illustrated with hand-drawn maps, full colour photos and packed with useful advice and information, FREE Days Out pinpoints dozens of great locations across Lancashire where you can take your family without any cost whatsoever. Too many attractions charge extortionate fees across Britain. Lancashire is no exception. The local tourist websites have to promote their big fee-charging attractions. As a totally independent publication we don't. Search the VisitLancashire website for free days out and you will find a truly appalling selection of destinations, including a garden centre and a cinema complex. I don't know about your kids but mine want a bit more excitement than looking at rows of pot plants and scented candles. FREE Days Out aims to address this problem. The guides include age guides and details of any possible extra charges like car parking fees and tea/coffee/ice creams. Armed with FREE Days Out you can enjoy your day out without fear of losing 50 in an effort to keep the kids entertained. Kids can have a great time without you having to spend money. FREE Days Out is the gateway to saving you from a cash crisis. So if you are a local needing places to go in the school holidays or if you are visiting the region, FREE Days Out is perfect for you. This is what FREE Days Out does: It tells you how to have fun in Lancashire for FREE. That means it's about days out which cost nothing. Ideal for people on holiday in Lancashire. Especially if you've got kids. Enjoy it and please feel free to offer suggestions of other great days out in Lancashire.
