Robert Stock, Troy Corley : Free Orange County O.C.: The Ultimate Free Fun Guide to the California Riviera

before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Free Orange County O.C.: The Ultimate Free Fun Guide to the California Riviera:

I bought it not so much for the "Free" part as for the Orange County focus, since generally OC is treated only as a footnote in guides that focus primarily on Los Angeles. In addition to the normal index, it has an index by location and another by time of year, both of which are useful in terms of finding activities that will meet particular needs. There are a few entries that feel like a stretch (the Brea Trolley and Westfield Main Place - really?), but I also found a few places I had never heard of even after living in the OC for more than a decade. Most useful for families looking for outings that are kid friendly and not too expensive.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Free Orange County opened my eyes!By Faye GilbertI have lived in Orange County all my life (and that's a long time) and didn't know about many of the places in "Free Orange County". The book is worth every penny and more, as I now have "free" places to take my grandsons as well as discovering the free assets Orange County has to offer. This book stays in my car as I never know where I'll be and now I have a book to guide me in new exploration.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Wow! All kinds of stuff I never knew about!By Lisa ErskineI have the LA version and the OC version. There is all kinds of stuff I never knew existed. I had no idea. I am impressed. I have lived in OC and LA most of my life. I learned a lot.

A unique travel guide detailing hundreds of free fun things to do in The O.C., from the surf to the turf.

Free O.C. does it for me just as Free L.A. did. [It] gives a reader the flavor of the area. -- Carolyn Howard-Johnson, reviewer and columnist for MyShelf.comThese guides are a definite must-have for anyone living in the surrounding area who is trying to find [free] fun. -- Kimberley Button for Bella OnlineAbout the AuthorRobert Stock is a Los Angeles native.
