By CustomerNOTE: This is for international travel, not for US travel. It is a great journal that kids of many ages will enjoy and be able to use. However, it has so many sections that are for ONLY international travel (money exchange, foreign languages/words, maps with the earth and continents on it, not states, foreign flags, etc.), that it was inappropriate for the US road trip I purchased it for. Great for a kid who is traveling internationally. The instructions on the outside of it explaining various ways to use the journal are excellent. Wish they had one for US travel and one for International travel.

By lawyer_man This was purchased for our 6 year old niece who is going to use this on a trip to Europe. It has a lot of great prompts for a younger child to complete, including many things to document on the way, such as the dates of the trip, the destination addresses, and the packing list. It also has a lot of spots to draw pictures so that kids who have not quite mastered writing can still complete the journal. There are also places to add pictures. All in all, I expect that this would make a great keepsake some day, both to see where one went and to see how the trip impacted oneself at the time. 10 of 10 people found the following review helpful. Children's Travel Journal By sweett588 I am a former 1st grade teacher and now a mom. I bought this for my 9 year old and was age appropriate. I like the questions it asked and the spaces it left for receipts and pictures. It is a great way to have your child engaged in learning about where they are visiting/vacationing while also making memories.

Your favorite little globetrotter will create a masterpiece of memories with The Children's Travel Journal. While on the road, this unique diary is a fun-filled work-in-progress.
